

I am at my wits end with telemarketing. I will never buy anything they sell. If I want something, I will go out and get it. It is harrassment in my book. I am sick of being annoyed and harrassesed every half hour when I arrive home from a long day of work. They are either rude or you get a hang up as soon as you answer the phone because they want to leave a recording or the computer that generated the call disconnects. Please do not give them this power to infringe on my quality of life.
